Photo Analysis: Close Looking

Instructions: We often gain impressions about an event or issue from photographs in the media, yet we often do not take time to observe carefully and think critically about the meaning we construct from these images. Examine the photograph and answer the questions that follow.

Gerald L. Nino, CBP, U.S. Dept. of Homeland Security, 2005.

Name: _____

Photo Analysis: Close Looking

Instructions: We often gain impressions about an event or issue from photographs in the media, yet we often do not take time to observe carefully and think critically about the meaning we construct from these images. Examine the photograph and answer the questions that follow.

U.S. Customs and Border Protection, 2014.

Photo Analysis: Close Looking

Instructions: We often gain impressions about an event or issue from photographs in the media, yet we often do not take time to observe carefully and think critically about the meaning we construct from these images. Examine the photograph and answer the questions that follow.

U.S. Customs and Border Patrol, 2014.

Photo Analysis: Close Looking

Instructions: We often gain impressions about an event or issue from photographs in the media, yet we often do not take time to observe carefully and think critically about the meaning we construct from these images. Examine the photograph and answer the questions that follow.

BBC World Service, Attribution-NonCommercial 2.0 Generic (CC BY-NC 2.0), 2014.