

Which Choices Program curriculum product is right for you?

	Digital Editions	Deluxe (Print + Digital)	Print Units
Seamlessly integrates with popular learning management systems, including Google Classroom, Canvas, and more
Compatible with all digital devices, including mobile
Access to updated curriculum as new editions are released, at no extra cost
Paperless
Directly embeds video interviews with Brown University scholars and other experts into readings and assignments			Video playlists available on website
Includes high-resolution, full color images, maps, data sets, and infographics with accessible alt-text			Black &amp; white images only
Simply and securely share readings and assignments with students via URLs (no student data is collected and no individual logins are needed)
High-quality, carefully researched curriculum content designed for high school social studies classes
Aligns with the C3 Framework, American Historical Association, National Council For History Education, and other standards
Features a range of primary sources, including written documents, artifacts, works of art, and oral histories for students to analyze
Up-to-date, inclusive historiography that encourages students to grapple with the past like historians
Helps students critically consume information and become engaged global citizens by building research, speaking, listening, and critical thinking skills
Easy to customize content to fit your lesson planning needs
Excellent customer support and instructional materials	